

Kaplan Conference on Educational Innovation

Wednesday, November 9

10am to 4:30pm EST

hosted by the Mordecai Kaplan Center for Jewish Peoplehood in cooperation with RENA, RJ, and the RRA

All offerings are virtual, with many opportunities for accessing individual sessions. There is no charge for the conference but participants must register. A Zoom link will be sent out a few days before the conference.

Please register by filling out this Google form.

Why this Conference?

The inauguration of the Dan Cedarbaum Prize in Jewish Education sparked our search for projects that were Kaplanian in spirit and innovative in educational character. The aim of this conference is to share with you the many models of creative Jewish education that we discovered.

Highlights of the conference will include:

- An opportunity to learn about the education projects of Rabbi Bec Richman and Rabbi Michelle Greenfield, our new Cedarbaum Prize winners
- A keynote dialogue with Dr. Miriam Heller Stern, Vice Provost for Educational Strategy and National Director of the School of Education at HUC-JIR, about “Kaplanian Innovation and the Arts”
- Workshops on nine projects submitted as part of the Cedarbaum Prize process that have been awarded a place in our Innovation Garden
- An opportunity to study a Kaplan educational gem with Dr. Eric Caplan, Academic Vice-President, Mordecai Kaplan Center for Jewish Peoplehood

Feel free to invite friends and colleagues.
*We look forward to seeing you on November 9!
